VERIFIED COMPLAINT FOR INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

TK Holdings Inc. (“TKH”) and its affiliated debtors in the above-captioned chapter 11 cases (the “Chapter 11 Cases”), as debtors and debtors in possession (collectively, the “Debtors”) and plaintiffs in the above-captioned adversary proceeding, allege for their Verified Complaint, upon knowledge of their own acts and upon information and belief as to other matters, as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This is an adversary proceeding brought pursuant to Rules 7001(7) and 7065 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”) and sections 105 and 362 of title 11 of the United States Code (the “Bankruptcy Code”) to: (i) enjoin the Governments of Hawaii, New Mexico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands (“States”) from prosecuting lawsuits (“State Actions”) against (a) the Debtors, including TK Holdings Inc. (“TKH”), if not otherwise subject to the automatic stay imposed by section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, (b) Takata Corporation (“TKJP” and, collectively, with all of TKJP’s direct and indirect subsidiaries, including the Debtors, “Takata”), and (c) the Customer Group, i.e., those original equipment manufacturer customers (“OEMs” or “Customers”) that constitute the complete list of Consenting OEMs,² and (ii) extend the automatic stay under Bankruptcy Code Section 362 to claims against the

² BMW, Fiat Chrysler Automobiles, Ford General Motors, Honda, Jaguar Land Rover, Mazda, Mercedes-Benz, Mitsubishi, Nissan, Subaru, Toyota, Volkswagen, and AB Volvo. See Declaration of Scott E. Caudill in Support of Debtors’ Chapter 11 Petitions and First Day Relief (“First Day Decl.”) ¶¶8, 15 n.7 (Dkt. No. 19). In addition, Peugeot became a Customer Group member and Consenting OEM on July 6, 2017. Capitalized terms used in this Motion and not otherwise defined, shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the First Day Decl.

Consenting OEMs arising out of or related to Takata's airbag inflators, including claims for personal injury, wrongful death, economic loss, or failure to timely recall and repair Takata inflators ("Individual Actions" and together with the State Actions, "Actions").³

2. The Debtors seek a preliminary injunction to enjoin the continued prosecution of the State Actions and to extend the automatic stay to the pending Individual Actions to avoid the irreparable harm to their restructuring efforts that would occur should these Actions be allowed to continue. Absent a stay, the Debtors' and TKJP's restructuring efforts will be hampered by their direct participation in the State Actions and involvement in at least some form in the Individual Actions. The Debtors' leadership would be forced to prepare for and attend hearings, assist in preparing discovery responses, devote time preparing for and participating in depositions, and help analyze and develop the Debtors' legal defenses. This would distract the Debtors' employees from, among other things, negotiating and executing the Global Transaction, as defined below, and the Chapter 11 Plan during this critical stage.

3. If the Actions are not enjoined as against the Consenting OEMs, the Debtors risk substantial prejudice arising from contractual indemnification provisions in favor of the Consenting OEMs, as well as potential collateral estoppel and record taint. Avoiding such harms would likely require the Debtors' involvement in the Actions, which would burden estate resources, and divert attention from the Debtors' paramount goal: confirmation of the Chapter 11 Plan.

4. Neither the States, the consumers on whose behalf the State Actions are ostensibly brought, nor the plaintiffs in the Individual Actions will be harmed by staying the Actions, given the ongoing, wide-ranging recalls of vehicles equipped with the subject Takata airbag inflators.⁴ In fact, it is in the best interest of the motoring public that the Court ensure the Debtors' timely and successful restructuring, which would inure to the benefit of all creditors and continue the critical supply (through the expected sale transaction) of airbags and airbag inflators (including replacement parts) for the automotive industry.

5. Thus, because the equities weigh in favor of staying the Actions, a stay is warranted in the interest of justice, and this Court should grant the requested injunctive relief.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. This adversary proceeding arises in and relates to Debtors-Plaintiffs' cases pending before this Court under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

7. The Court has jurisdiction to consider this adversary proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334, and the Amended Standing Order of Reference from the United States District Court for the District of Delaware, dated February 29, 2012. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the claims against the Consenting OEMs and TKJP pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334.

8. This is a core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b) and, pursuant to Rule 9013–1(f) of the Local Rules of Bankruptcy Practice and Procedure of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the “Local Rules”), the Debtors consent to the entry of a final order by the Court in connection with this adversary proceeding to the extent it is later determined that the Court, absent consent of the parties, cannot enter final orders or judgments consistent with Article III of the United States Constitution.

9. Venue is proper before the Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1408 and 1409.

THE PARTIES

10. As described in the First Day Declaration, the Debtors (i.e., the Plaintiffs in this adversary proceeding) are industry leaders in the development and production of high quality safety systems, including the manufacture of automotive safety components, such as airbags and airbag inflators.

11. The State Defendants in this adversary proceeding are the Governments of Hawaii, New Mexico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands and have commenced suits against TKH, TKJP, and certain OEMs based upon allegations related to Takata airbags containing PSAN Inflators. These State Actions allege that Takata and the OEMs engaged in unfair or deceptive acts and/or violated consumer protection laws by making false or misleading statements regarding the safety characteristics of the airbag inflators and/or by concealing a defect from the public.

12. The Individual Defendants in this adversary proceeding are plaintiffs in the Individual Actions who commenced suits against either (i) Takata entities, including TKH and TJKP, and certain OEMs, collectively, or (ii) certain OEMs, individually, claiming injuries allegedly stemming from Takata airbag inflators.

13. Although not named parties in this adversary proceeding, the Consenting OEMs (e.g., Honda, Toyota, Nissan, and Volkswagen) manufacture automobiles. They are also Takata's customers and largest creditors. Generally, OEMs submit purchase orders to Takata specifying, among other things, the type, quantity, and delivery location of Takata airbags. Separate sales agreements between Takata, including the Debtors, and each OEM govern the terms and conditions of the contracting parties' individual relationship. These agreements set forth, among other things, the method for determining the price of Takata's products, as well as the parties' respective duties, representations, and warranties. The sales agreements also contain contractual indemnification provisions in favor of the OEMs.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Events Preceding the Bankruptcy Petitions

14. Despite over fifty years of exemplary service in the automotive safety market, Takata recently experienced financial distress due to issues relating to certain airbag inflators that it manufactured containing phase-stabilized ammonium nitrate (the “PSAN Inflators”), which, in rare instances, have ruptured during deployment of the airbag, prompting federal regulators and the OEMs to initiate exhaustive recalls of vehicles in the U.S. and overseas, with support from TKH, TKJP, and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (“NHTSA”). As of June, 2017, over sixty million (60,000,000) non-desiccated PSAN Inflators in the United States and more than sixty four million (64,000,000) non-desiccated PSAN Inflators outside of the United States have been recalled or will be subject to recalls based on announced schedules. In addition, the NHTSA Consent Order requires that TKH implement a series of actions, including the phasing out of the manufacture and sale of non-desiccated PSAN Inflators by the end of 2018. In addition, Takata recently filed with NHTSA Defect Information Reports relating to an additional 2.7 million PSAN inflators in the United States that were desiccated with calcium sulfate.

15. Takata has been heavily involved in the recalls for the safety of those end-users of Takata’s airbags containing PSAN Inflators. The Debtors have dedicated substantial resources to the manufacture, assembly, and shipment of replacement parts (generally in the form of “replacement kits”) to the OEMs. To date, the Debtors and their affiliates have produced over 63 million replacement kits for the OEMs and anticipate that the OEMs will require millions of additional replacement kits in the years ahead.

16. In addition, the Debtors have implemented significant internal remedial oversight and compliance measures, including retaining an Independent Monitor; appointing a Chief Safety Assurance and Accountability Officer; and establishing (i) processes for Takata employees to report concerns to management, (ii) a product safety group with authority to investigate and address preemptively safety-related issues across Takata's product lines, and (iii) an independent quality assurance panel with a broad mandate to review Takata's practices and policies.

17. In addition to the obligations owed to NHTSA in connection with the recalls, on January 13, 2017, TKJP, the Department of Justice, Criminal Division, Fraud Section (the "DOJ"), and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Michigan announced and submitted to the District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan a plea agreement pursuant to Rule 11(c)(1)(C) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure (the "Plea Agreement"). Pursuant to the DOJ Order, TKJP pleaded guilty to wire fraud in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1343 and agreed to pay a criminal fine of $25 million, which was paid on March 29, 2017.

18. Pursuant to the Plea Agreement and a restitution order ("Restitution Order") (collectively, "DOJ Order"), TKJP committed to pay, directly or through its affiliates or subsidiaries, Restitution Payments of: (i) $850 million to automobile manufacturers, which must be paid within five (5) days after the closing of a sale of Takata, which must occur by no later than February 27, 2018 and (ii) $125 million to recompense individuals who suffered (or will suffer) personal injury caused by the rupture of a PSAN Inflator, which, as required, was paid to the DOJ on or around March 29, 2017. If the remaining Restitution Payments are not satisfied in full by March 4, 2018, the DOJ retains the right to withdraw the Plea Agreement and pursue criminal charges and penalties above and beyond those that were settled under the Plea Agreement against all Takata entities, including TKH.

19. During the marketing process of the proposed sale of substantially all of Takata's global assets, no purchaser or potential plan sponsor, including Key Safety Systems, Inc. (the "Purchaser," "Plan Sponsor," or "KSS"), was willing to close a sale transaction without the assurance that the sale proceeds would be applied first to those obligations owed to the DOJ.

The Bankruptcy Proceeding

20. The Debtors filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in this Court on June 25, 2017 (the "Petition Date").

21. The Debtors continue to operate their businesses and manage their properties as debtors in possession under sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Debtors also filed a motion requesting joint administration of these Chapter 11 cases ("Chapter 11 Cases") under Bankruptcy Rule 1015(b), which was granted on June 27, 2017.

22. In coordination with the commencement of the Chapter 11 Cases, TKJP, the Debtors' ultimate corporate parent, together with Takata Kyushi K.K. and Takata Service K.K. (the "Japanese Debtors"), commenced civil rehabilitation proceedings under the Civil Rehabilitation Act of Japan (the "Japanese Proceedings") with the 20th Department of the Civil Division of the Tokyo District Court.

23. After months of negotiations, Takata (including the Debtors) is on the verge of executing a transaction with the Plan Sponsor for the sale of substantially all of the Takata entities' global operations. This transaction will have the support of the Consenting OEMs, who, collectively, purchased approximately 90% of PSAN Inflatos sold by Takata as of March 2017 and hold a substantial majority of the unsecured claims against the Debtors' estates. The Debtors, TKJP, the Debtors' other foreign affiliates, the Plan Sponsor, and the Consenting OEMs have agreed in principle to the sale of the Debtors' assets to the Plan Sponsor, which will be consummated under the Chapter 11 Plan (the "Global Transaction").

24. The sale of the Debtors' assets will be completed pursuant to the Chapter 11 Plan and the sale of the Japanese Debtors' assets will be consummated pursuant to a business transfer implemented pursuant to sections 42 and 43 of the Civil Rehabilitation Code (the "JP Business Transfer") followed by a liquidating plan in accordance with the Civil Rehabilitation Act (the "JP Plan").

25. In light of impending liquidity risks, and to ensure ongoing stable supply to their Customers, the Debtors filed these Chapter 11 Cases before finalizing the Global Transaction; however, negotiations of the final terms continue and are nearly complete.

26. The Consenting OEMs have entered into a Global Accommodation Agreement that provides the Takata entities with, among other things, much needed liquidity during the U.S. and Japanese insolvency proceedings and serves as a bridge to the closing of the proposed Global Transaction and consummation of the Chapter 11 Plan. Under this agreement, and additional agreements contemplated thereunder, the Consenting OEMs have agreed to provide the Debtors with (i) liquidity enhancement from the acceleration of payment terms on outstanding purchase orders; (ii) restrictions on the Consenting OEMs' ability to re-source parts and programs to the Debtors' competitors; (iii) limitations on the Consenting OEMs' ability to assert setoffs against the Debtors' accounts receivable; and (iv) a commitment to purchase raw materials and furnished goods at established prices in the event of trigger events. The Global Accommodation Agreement also sets forth milestones related to finalizing, executing, and filing the Global Transaction Documents to ensure that the Debtors can close and emerge from Chapter 11 by February 27, 2018. Failure to meet these milestones would constitute a breach that would entitle the Consenting OEMs to terminate the Global Accommodation Agreement and pull the Debtors' go-forward funding during the Chapter 11 Cases.

27. To advance the restructuring efforts and to finalize these interrelated and complementary agreements, the Debtors' executive leadership team, including but not limited to Chief Operating Officer Scott E. Caudill, have spent, and will continue to spend, nearly all of their professional time and energy engaging in discussions with the proposed sponsor, the Consenting OEMs, as well as other Takata customers to execute a sale that would, among other things, maximize the potential recovery for injured plaintiffs and stabilize the Debtors' business in light of the recent bankruptcy proceedings.

28. These focused efforts by the Debtors, including marketing, developing, and negotiating the proposed sale and negotiating the restructuring with the Consenting OEMs, are essential to ensuring that the entire transaction is completed before the DOJ Order's February 27, 2018 deadline.

29. In addition to the intensive work being performed by the Debtors' leadership team, the Debtors' engineers have spent, and will continue to spend, a substantial amount of their professional time and energy designing and producing replacement kits, as well as testing airbag inflators to comply with Takata's ongoing obligations to NHTSA. These efforts, by the Debtors' executive leadership team, senior employees, and engineers are necessary to continue Takata's operations during these bankruptcy proceedings, which, in turn, will allow Takata to preserve enough global liquidity to finalize the Global Transaction.

The State Actions⁵

30. On May 13, 2016, the State of Hawaii, by its Office of Consumer Protection sued TKH, TKJP, and Honda entities (“Honda”)⁶ in state court asserting a claim under its consumer protection statute. Hawaii seeks a permanent injunction barring Takata from engaging in unfair and deceptive conduct, civil penalties per violation in accordance with H.R.S. §§480-15, restitution, and disgorgement. On June 16, 2017, Honda filed cross-claims against TKH and TKJP, alleging indemnity, fraudulent concealment, and misrepresentations. The Hawaii Action is in active discovery. In fact, the state court recently issued an order requiring Shige Takada, TKJP’s Chairman, to produce documents, and the State will likely seek to take his deposition.

31. On May 24, 2017, Hawaii filed a separate, but similar, action against certain Consenting OEMs,⁷ alleging violations of its consumer protection statute also predicated on Takata’s airbag inflators. It did not sue any Takata entity, even though the case concerns Takata airbag inflators. In June 2017, the defendant OEMs filed third-party complaints against TKH and TKJP alleging indemnification, reimbursement, contribution, fraud, and misrepresentation.

32. On May 25, 2016, the Government of the USVI sued TKH, TKJP, and Honda in state court asserting causes of action under its consumer protection laws, USVI’s Criminally Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, 14 V.I.C. §§600–14, USVI’s Consumer Fraud & Deceptive Business Practices Act, 12A V.I.C. §301, and USVI common law. The USVI seeks civil penalties, administrative fines, an injunction requiring defendants to cease their alleged violations of the law and the expansion of a public education effort, restitution, and disgorgement.

⁷ Toyota (specifically, Toyota Motor Corporation, Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A. Inc., Toyota de Puerto Rico Corp., and Toyota Motor Engineering & Manufacturing North America, Inc.); Nissan (specifically, Nissan Motor Company, Ltd., and Nissan North America, Inc.); and Ford (specifically, Ford Motor Company).

33. The USVI moved for a preliminary injunction at the time it filed the complaint, seeking an order requiring TKH to place money in a court-administered escrow account to pay any potential monetary relief. A hearing on the preliminary injunction motion was scheduled for June 28, 2017. On June 16, 2017, the USVI acted ex parte to advance the hearing, which was advanced to June 19, 2017, where the court denied the USVI's motion without prejudice. After press reports suggested that Takata would file for bankruptcy on June 25 or 26, the USVI filed a renewed emergency motion for preliminary injunction and obtained, again ex parte, an emergency hearing for Monday, June 26, 2017. On the Sunday before the hearing (June 25, 2017)—the same day TKH filed for bankruptcy—and without notice or an opportunity to be heard, the USVI court entered an ex parte order directing TKH to deposit “forthwith” more than $8 million with the court. Upon learning of this bankruptcy, on June 28, 2017, sua sponte, the USVI court issued an Order staying the action against TKH, TKJP, and Honda and ordered that no further proceedings take place absent a further order from that court.

34. On May 16, 2017, the USVI filed a separate, but similar, action against certain Consenting OEMs⁸ predicated on Takata's airbag inflators. It did not sue any Takata entity. In June 2017, the defendant OEMs filed third-party complaints against TKH and TKJP alleging indemnification, reimbursement, contribution, fraud, and misrepresentation. On June 30, 2017, sua sponte, the USVI court issued an Order staying that action and ordered that no further proceedings take place in the absence of an order from that court.

⁸ The same Toyota, Nissan, and Ford entities identified in n.7, supra.

35. On January 20, 2017, the State of New Mexico sued TKH, TKJP, and several Consenting OEMs,⁹ among others, in state court alleging that the defendants violated New Mexico's Unfair Practices Act, N.M. Stat. Ann. § 57-12-1, et seq., and seeking, among other things, $5,000 per defective airbag inflator in the state as well as $5,000 per day for each day that the defendants allegedly hid or obscured the defects. In June 2017, multiple Consenting OEMs¹⁰ filed cross-claims against TKH and TKJP alleging indemnification, reimbursement, contribution, fraudulent concealment, and misrepresentation.

The Individual Actions¹¹

36. The Individual Actions fall into three distinct categories.

37. First, individual plaintiffs have brought more than 100 personal injury or wrongful death actions against TKH, TKJP, and the Consenting OEMs (the “Individual Plaintiffs”), which allege that the Consenting OEMs installed a defective airbag inflator manufactured by Takata in their automobiles. Of those, 48 are consolidated in a multidistrict litigation pending in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida (the “MDL”). More than 90 other cases have been filed in federal or state courts across the country. Litigating these actions requires Takata's oversight in more than a dozen states, including California, Florida, and Louisiana. Consenting OEMs have brought a myriad of cross-claims against Takata in these cases, including cross-claims applicable to all of the claims in the MDL. These actions are stayed against the Debtors under Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, and will be stayed as to TKJP once its Japanese Proceedings are recognized.

⁹ Honda (specifically, Honda Motor Co., Ltd. and American Honda Motor Co., Inc.); Ford (specifically, Ford Motor Company); Toyota (specifically, Toyota Motor Corp., Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc., and Toyota Motor Engineering & Manufacturing North America, Inc.); BMW (BMW of North America, LLC and BMW Manufacturing Co., LLC); Mazda (specifically, Mazda Motor Corp. and Mazda Motor of America, Inc.); Subaru (specifically, Fuji Heavy Industries, Ltd. n/k/a Subaru Corporation and Subaru of America, Inc.); Mitsubishi (specifically, Mitsubishi Motors Corp. and Mitsubishi Motors North America, Inc.); Nissan (specifically, Nissan Motor Co., Ltd. and Nissan North America, Inc.); Fiat Chrysler Automobiles (specifically, FCA US LLC and Fiat Chrysler Automobiles N.V.); Volkswagen/Audi (specifically, Volkswagen Group of America, Inc. and Audi of America, LLC); General Motors (specifically, General Motors Company and General Motors LLC), Jaguar Land Rover (specifically, Jaguar Land Rover North America); and Mercedes-Benz (specifically, Mercedes-Benz USA, LLC). The actions against certain of the Consenting OEMs have been dismissed without prejudice.

38. Second, plaintiffs in the United States and Canada have brought more than 40 actions seeking damages for economic loss. Almost all of these are class actions, and of those in the United States, nearly all of the class actions are centralized in the MDL. Those actions principally allege that the recall of Takata's airbag inflators caused the plaintiffs to sustain a loss in the value of their vehicle and/or to incur various out-of-pocket costs related to the recall.¹² Consenting OEMs have brought cross-claims against Takata regarding these economic loss actions.

39. Third, more than 200 plaintiffs have filed actions seeking damages from the OEMs for the alleged unavailability of replacements for recalled Takata airbag inflators ("Lemon Law Actions"), and the OEMs have filed third-party complaints therein against TKH and TKJP. Like the personal injury and wrongful death actions, the economic loss and Lemon Law Actions are stayed as to the Debtors and are expected to be stayed as to TKJP in connection with its Chapter 15 proceeding.

40. The common thread binding each of the Individual Actions is that they all arise out of the Takata entities' PSAN airbag inflators.

COUNT ONE

(Preliminary Injunction Staying the State Actions against the Debtors)

41. The Debtors repeat and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

42. The Debtors seek a preliminary injunction to stay the continued prosecution of the State Actions against the Debtors under Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy until February 27, 2018 (the current deadline to complete the Global Transaction).

43. Section 105(a) authorizes the court to “issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of [the Bankruptcy Code].” 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). Relief under section 105 is particularly appropriate in a Chapter 11 case, such as this, where it is necessary to protect the Debtors’ ability to effectively confirm a plan of reorganization and to preserve the property of the Debtors’ estates. A bankruptcy court may, therefore, in its discretion, stay actions under Section 105, even where the case may otherwise be exempt from the automatic stay.

44. There is a substantial likelihood here that the Debtors will be able to confirm a plan of reorganization, so long as their key officers, directors, and employees are permitted to focus on restructuring, unimpeded by the diversion and drain on their time and resources occasioned by the defense of the State Actions. The Debtors filed the Chapter 11 Cases on the verge of completing a deal that would lead to a quick and successful emergence from bankruptcy. The Debtors’ prospects for a successful restructuring, while still at a delicate stage, weigh in favor of the requested preliminary injunction.

45. Absent an order enjoining the State Actions from continued prosecution of their claims as against the Debtors, the Debtors will suffer irreparable harm that will threaten the integrity of the bankruptcy proceeding. Specifically, should the State Actions continue, key personnel, including senior management and engineers, would be substantially distracted by the efforts necessary to prepare for and attend hearings, to assist in preparing discovery responses, to spend time preparing for and participating in depositions, and to help analyze and develop the Debtors' legal defenses, diverting the Debtors' precious attention, time, and resources away from their work to complete critical restructuring tasks; thus impeding the Debtors' reorganization efforts and the Global Transaction. In addition, the costs of defending the State Actions, including but not limited to, attorneys' fees and costs, discovery, trial preparation and trial, would diminish the Debtors' estates. Because Takata's airbag inflators, and Takata's design, testing, and knowledge of issues with such inflators, are front and center in the State Actions, the Debtors would have no choice but to divert critical resources away from the Chapter 11 Cases and their estates to develop their factual and legal defenses. Such a substantial diversion of resources would threaten the recovery to creditors under the Chapter 11 Plan and, if substantial enough, could threaten the Debtors' ability to consummate a plan and successfully restructure. Moreover, in the absence of a stay, the Debtors would face the risk of collateral estoppel and/or evidentiary prejudice, given that the allegations against the Debtors in the State Actions involve many of the same factual and legal allegations that are set forth in a variety of other lawsuits (all of which are automatically stayed as to the Debtors during the bankruptcy proceedings pursuant to the Section 362).

46. Indeed, the diversion of resources and attention from the reorganization are so substantial that continuing the State Actions constitutes a significant threat to the reorganization of Debtors' estate. Enjoining the State Actions would provide the Debtors with the necessary breathing room to allow them to focus on reorganization. Furthermore, without a stay of the State Actions, the Debtors face a diminished likelihood of confirming a plan of reorganization, which will likely cause further harm to the public at large if it fails.

47. The balance of harms weighs decidedly in favor of enjoining the State Actions against the Debtors. The States, and the consumers on whose behalf the actions are brought, will not be harmed by the requested injunctive relief. The requested order would simply stay the State Actions until February 27, 2018, the current deadline for completing the Global Transaction. Moreover, there are already remedies in place to address the alleged risks faced by owners and lessors of vehicles containing recalled Takata airbag inflators: the largest recall in American history and the DOJ Order. Affected consumers in the USVI, Hawaii, and New Mexico, along with consumers throughout the nation, are already receiving and will continue to receive replacement airbag inflators without the continuation of the State Actions.

48. Moreover, even if the State Actions are exempt from the automatic stay under Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code (which the Debtors do not concede), none of States could seek to enforce or collect upon any money judgment during the pendency of the Debtors' bankruptcies in any event.

49. Enjoining the State Actions against TKH will also serve the public interest by furthering the reorganization efforts. Indeed, the public interest would be harmed if the State Actions were to proceed; as such actions, and the Debtors' necessary involvement therein, threaten the Debtors' reorganization; and therefore, its ability to continue and complete the global recall of airbags will also be in question.

50. The public also has an interest in the Debtors' successful reorganization given that failure to reorganize would likely result in a liquidation of Takata's assets. In that event, many U.S. production facilities would close, and tens of thousands of people could lose their jobs. Further, the worldwide automobile market would likely experience a shortage of airbags and an interruption in the supply of the replacement airbag inflators, which would ultimately affect consumers by causing an increase in automobile prices and a decrease in choice of producers.

51. An injunction staying the State Actions against the Debtors is therefore appropriate.

52. No prior application for the relief requested herein has been made to this court or any other court.

COUNT TWO
(Preliminary Injunction Staying the State Actions against TKJP)

53. The Debtors repeat and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

54. The Debtors seek a preliminary injunction to stay the continued prosecution of the State Actions against non-debtor TKJP under Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code until February 27, 2018 (the current deadline to complete the Global Transaction).

55. This Court has the jurisdiction and authority to enjoin the State Actions against non-debtor TKJP pursuant to Section 105(a) because the State Actions against TKJP are related to Debtors' bankruptcy proceeding and the continuation of the State Actions as against TKJP would unduly interfere with the Debtors' bankruptcy proceedings.

56. As explained above, the Debtors are likely to successfully reorganize so long as they are protected from the distractions of the State Actions. Specifically, although the relevant parties have worked to reach a proposed deal, there is still much work to be done that will require the full attention of all parties and their executives and counsel, and must be completed before the DOJ Order's February 27, 2018 deadline.

57. The Debtors would suffer irreparable harm if the State Actions are allowed to proceed against TKJP, a foreign debtor and Debtors' Japanese parent company, since these Chapter 11 Cases are part of, and are integral to, the implementation of the proposed Global Transaction. The proposed Global Transaction also contemplates, through coordinated U.S. and Japanese insolvency proceedings, the sale of the Japanese debtors' assets. And, although the Debtors and TKJP are separate legal entities, maintaining the momentum necessary to execute and fulfill the interrelated and complementary sale documents, and to ensure all bankruptcy proceedings are complete before the February 2018 deadline, requires the complete attention of high-level executives from both the Debtors and TKJP.

58. In addition, given that in many instances, the airbag inflators that are the subject of the litigation were designed, developed, and manufactured by the Debtors, the Debtors would likely be drawn into any litigation against TKJP, even if the actions against the Debtors were stayed.

59. It is also essential that TKJP, and indirectly, the Debtors, are able to make the remaining restitution payments, as required by the DOJ Order, on time because if TKJP defaults, the DOJ could pursue additional criminal charges and penalties against all Takata entities, including TKH. Allowing the State Actions to proceed against TKJP would divert the attention of key TKJP executives from completing these actions.

60. The balance of hardships weighs in favor of enjoining the State Actions against TKJP. The States, and the consumers on whose behalf the actions are brought, will not be harmed by the requested injunctive relief because the DOJ Order and the comprehensive recall efforts already well underway aim to address the alleged risks faced by owners and lessors of vehicles containing recalled Takata airbag inflators. Affected consumers in the USVI, Hawaii, and New Mexico, along with consumers throughout the nation, are already receiving and will continue to receive replacement airbag inflators without the continuation of the State Actions.

61. Enjoining the State Actions against TKJP will also serve the public interest by furthering Takata's reorganization efforts. Indeed, the public interest would be harmed if the State Actions were to proceed; as such actions, and the Debtors' necessary involvement therein, threaten Takata's reorganization; and therefore, its ability to continue and complete the global recall of airbags will also be in question.

62. An injunction staying the State Actions against TKJP is therefore appropriate.

63. No prior application for the relief requested herein has been made to this court or any other court.

COUNT THREE
(Preliminary Injunction Staying the State Actions and Individual Actions Against Consenting OEMs)

64. The Debtors repeat and re-allege the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

65. The Debtors seek a preliminary injunction to stay the continued prosecution of the State Actions and the Individual Actions against the non-debtors Consenting OEMs under Section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code until February 27, 2018 (the current deadline to complete the Global Transaction).

66. This Court has the jurisdiction and authority to enjoin the State Actions and the Individual Actions against the non-debtors Consenting OEMs pursuant to Section 105(a) because the Actions are related to Debtors' bankruptcy proceeding and the continuation of the Actions as against the Consenting OEMs would unduly interfere with the Debtors' bankruptcy proceedings.

67. Section 362(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code operates as a stay, "applicable to all entitles," of "the commencement or continuation . . . of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding against the debtor that was or could have been commenced before the commencement of the case under this title, or to recover a claim under this title." 11 U.S.C. § 362(a)(1).

68. Section 362(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code prohibits “any act to obtain possession of property of the state or of property from the estate or to exercise control over property of the estate.” 11 U.S.C. §362(a).

69. Under Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code and by virtue of the Debtors having filed their Chapter 11 petitions commencing their reorganization cases, there is in place an automatic stay of any act to collect, assess, or recover a claim against the Debtors that arose before the commencement of the case under Chapter 11.

70. Section 105(a) authorizes the court to issue any order that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code. See 11 U.S.C. § 105(a). Relief under section 105 is particularly appropriate in a Chapter 11 case, such as this, where it is necessary to protect the Debtors’ ability to effectively confirm a plan of reorganization and to preserve the property of the Debtors’ estates. A bankruptcy court may, therefore, in its discretion, stay actions under Section 105.

71. Continued prosecution of the State Actions and Individual Actions against the Consenting OEMs will have an immediate, adverse impact on the Debtors’ estates. Allowing the claims to proceed against the Consenting OEMs would endanger the restructuring and the Global Transaction by the Debtors’ diverting resources away from the bankruptcy proceedings.

72. In addition, because the Debtors’ airbag inflators are at the core of the issues raised in all of the claims against the Consenting OEMs, the Debtors share an identity of interest with the Consenting OEMs such that those suits are essentially against the Debtors.

73. The Debtors are likely to successfully reorganize so long as they are protected from the distractions of State Actions and the Individual Actions. Takata’s prospects for a successful reorganization are bolstered by the fact that the Debtors, the Plan Sponsor, and the Consenting OEMs have agreed to the sale of the Debtors' assets to the Plan Sponsor. For months, the Debtors have been working with the relevant parties to develop a viable reorganization plan to which all parties are committed. Under it, the Debtors will meet their obligations under the Plea Agreement and Restitution Order, continue to deliver new airbags and inflator replacement kits to meet recall obligations, and successfully emerge from bankruptcy. In addition, the Consenting OEMs involvement in the lengthy sale process and their engagement in substantial and complicated negotiations with the potential purchaser have been and will continue to be critical to the development of the reorganization plan.

74. The Debtors would suffer irreparable harm if the State Actions and the Individual Actions are allowed to proceed against the Consenting OEMs because the Consenting OEMs' continued and complete support is critical and necessary to the Debtors' reorganization. This includes, among other things, the accommodations that the Consenting OEMs have agreed to as part of the proposed Global Transaction that provide the Debtors with the liquidity they need to maintain operations during these Chapter 11 proceedings.

75. The accommodations and other liquidity enhancements being provided by the Consenting OEMs ensure that the Debtors have sufficient liquidity to operate during these Chapter 11 Cases, which, in turn, allows the Debtors to continue manufacturing replacement kits and therefore the recalls to continue. In addition, the Debtors require the Consenting OEMs' continued diligence in negotiations to meet the milestones set forth in the Global Accommodation Agreement, finalize the Chapter 11 Plan, and consummate the Global Transaction to fulfill their obligations under the DOJ Order.

76. The Consenting OEMs' willingness to participate in a lengthy marketing and sale process, and to indemnify the proposed sponsor under certain circumstances with respect to PSAN production, has made the proposed Global Transaction possible. Indeed, the OEMs' financial contributions to the Debtors' reorganization are significant. In fact, the Consenting OEMs determine, in large part, whether the sale transaction necessary for the Debtors' restructuring will ever occur.

77. Specifically, the Consenting OEMs have agreed to (i) accelerate accounts payable, which will improve the Debtors' liquidity position, (ii) continue to source airbag purchases from Takata (and essentially the Purchaser) during the restructuring, and (iii) restrict their setoff rights against the Debtors. Last, but not least, the Consenting OEMs have agreed to forgo full payment on their substantial cure and adequate protection claims against the Debtors, as well as the ultra-high priority associated with those claims under the Bankruptcy Code. Doing so will allow Takata to use money that would ordinarily be due to the Consenting OEMs to preserve enough global liquidity to complete the proposed Global Transaction before the DOJ Order's February 2018 deadline to pay the remaining restitution payments.

78. The failure to meet a milestone set forth in the Global Accommodation Agreement would constitute a breach that would entitle a requisite number of the Consenting OEMs to terminate the Global Accommodation Agreement and pull the Debtors' go-forward funding during the Chapter 11 Cases.

79. The Individual Actions and State Actions against the Consenting OEMs implicate the Debtors' airbag inflators, and the agreements between the Debtors and Consenting OEMs contain contractual indemnification provisions. Thus, Takata (including the Debtors) would likely need to address issues in the Actions to defend their conduct and products—thus wasting estate resources better spent on the restructuring efforts. Specifically, the Debtors' participation would (i) divert Takata's senior management's focus from these Chapter 11 Cases, (ii) divert other Takata employees' attention away from manufacturing safe replacement kits, and (iii) reallocate Debtors' assets to fund litigation efforts. In contrast, should the Debtors elect not to address these issues, they risk exposing themselves to collateral estoppel and evidentiary prejudice in more than 100 pending actions.

80. By virtue of the contractual indemnification claims against Takata brought by the Consenting OEMs, and the identity of interest Takata shares with the Consenting OEMs, Takata's prospects for successfully restructuring will be diminished should the Individual Actions and the State Actions be allowed to proceed against the Consenting OEMs.

81. In addition, if this Court does not stay the Actions against the Consenting OEMs, the Debtors' senior leadership team would likely be subjected to third-party discovery requests, distracting them from negotiating and executing the Global Transaction and the Chapter 11 Plan.

82. The continued prosecution of these Actions will unnecessarily divert critical resources from Takata's Chapter 11 estate and distract key Takata personnel, including for the Debtors, from the process of reorganization. Thus, absent a stay as to the State Actions and the Individual Actions, the Debtors will suffer irreparable injury.

83. The balance of the hardships favors a stay as the irreparable harm to the Debtors outweighs any potential harm to the States or Individual Plaintiffs. Staying the Actions against the Consenting OEMs would merely delay the prosecution of claims. And, any relief seeking to force the Debtors and the Consenting OEMs to recall and repair defective airbag inflators is already addressed through mechanisms in the NHTSA Consent Orders. That the States will have to wait to prosecute their cases does not outweigh the potential harm to the Debtors—namely, a failed restructuring—if the State Actions are allowed to proceed against the Consenting OEMs. Similarly, the Individual Plaintiffs can resume their claims against the Consenting OEMs at a later date, if necessary, depending on how portions of the Chapter 11 Plan develop; thus, staying the Actions would cause no appreciable harm to the Individual Plaintiffs. In fact, in light of the recent formation of the Economic Loss and Injury Committee, the Individual Plaintiffs' interests are adequately represented and protected in the bankruptcy proceeding. Thus, the balance of hardships favors the Debtors.

84. In addition, during the stay the Debtors intend to continue to work with the OEMs with respect to the nationwide recalls involving certain of the Debtors' airbag inflators and to ensure a stable and continuous supply of replacement parts to the OEMs. The balance of hardships, therefore, strongly favors the Debtors.

85. The public interest would be served by the issuance of the injunctive relief requested herein. Every dollar the Debtors spend in connection with the Actions is one less dollar they can dedicate to maintaining their operations. And siphoning the Debtors' resources in this way would diminish their estates and their ability to develop, produce, and install safe replacement kits, i.e., precisely the type of prospective relief the States seek.

86. An injunction staying the State Actions and the Individual Actions against the Consenting OEMs is therefore appropriate.

87. No prior application for the relief requested herein has been made to this court or any other court.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff prays the Court to enter an order:

- A. Staying State Actions until February 27, 2018 (the current deadline to complete the Global Transaction);
- B. Staying Individual Actions until February 27, 2018 (the current deadline to complete the Global Transaction);
